Microdata Access

Annex 2. Standard terminology used in the guidelines →

These case studies are largely identical to those included in the printed publication (published May 2007). However, where countries have provided updates, removed a case study, or provided an entirely new case study, the entries on this wiki have been updated accordingly.

Would you like to add a new case study?

To add a new case study you will need a user account for the UNECE wikis, with edit access for the Statistical Confidentiality space. To request a user account or to have edit access enabled on your existing user account, please contact support.stat@unece.org.

Click the button below to create your blank case study. Then select 'edit contents' near the top right of your screen to show the boxes which you should fill in with text, before clicking 'save' at the bottom right of the screen. You must also change the page title. When you are in editing mode you will see prompts giving you more information on what should go in each box.
